The Tamer Center for Social Enterprise provides support to undergraduate/graduate students engaged in summer internships with social and environmental value.

CAN YOU APPLY? ARE YOU:
- Currently as a enrolled full-time first-, second-, or third-year undergraduate/graduate student in good academic standing; and
- Going to work full-time as a summer intern for 6- to 10-weeks with a social venture or social entrepreneurship-focused organization in the US or abroad?

Students from engineering, public health, public policy, economics, medicine, biotechnology, nursing, journalism, arts, urban planning, social work, law/public interest, international development, sustainability, education, and other Columbia degree programs are able to apply.

The Social Enterprise Summer Fellowship Program can contribute a stipend of between $200 to $600 per week to assist with expenses associated with your internship.

ELIGIBLE INTERNSHIPS ARE WITH:
- Nonprofit and for-profit social ventures
- Social entrepreneurship-focused organizations

(See full guidelines online for more information)

APPLICATION DATES
Applications are rolling: March 1 or until funds are depleted. Apply early!

If you have questions, please email: TamerSESF@gmail.com or see more online: http://bit.ly/ColumbiaSESF