

Live Webinar

Developing Your Career and Designing Your Future during a Period of Crisis

May 1, 2020

Featuring:

Tokiko Araya, Director General / American Bureaus, New York Bureau Chief,
TV Asahi America, Inc.

Keiko Honda, Adjunct Professor and Adjunct Senior Research Scholar, School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA), Columbia University

Yoriko Suzuki, Minister, Permanent Mission of Japan to the United Nations, New York

Ayumi Wada, Chairwoman & CEO, Toshiba America, Inc.

Moderators:

Yumiko Shimabukuro, Director, Urban and Social Policy Program, SIPA

Ryoko Ogino, Managing Director, Center on Japanese Economy and Business,
Columbia Business School

On May 1, 2020, CJEB hosted a private webinar for Columbia students as part of the Japanese Management Leadership Program, where the students had the opportunity to get guidance and insight from a panel of highly successful women in business, media, academia, and government. In the first part of the webinar, speakers Tokiko Araya, Keiko Honda, Yoriko Suzuki, and Ayumi Wada reflected on their lives, discussing past global crises that affected their careers, and shared current strategies they were implementing to manage work and life during the COVID-19 pandemic. This section was moderated by Ryoko Ogino. During the second half of the webinar, Yumiko Shimabukuro led the students through an activity in design thinking. About 25 students from New York and Tokyo joined the live webinar.