

Japanese Politics and Economy: What Next?

October 31, 2018

Hugh Patrick and Gerald Curtis

On Wednesday, October 31, 2018, the Weatherhead East Asian Institute and CJEB co-sponsored a discussion on the future of Japanese politics and the Japanese economy at the Columbia University Faculty House featuring Professor Gerald Curtis, Burgess Professor Emeritus of Political Science, and Hugh Patrick, R.D. Calkins Professor of International Business Emeritus and Director of CJEB. The main themes of the event were domestic politics in Japan, the trajectory of the Japanese economy, and Japanese foreign policy. Professor Curtis focused mainly on Japan's current political climate, while Professor Patrick discussed the state of the Japanese economy.
